

ROAR N'SOAR, FANTASY OF
FLIGHT, FLORIDA – NOVEMBER
13TH TO 14TH, 2010

Road N'Soar, Florida – November 13th to 14th, 2010

If you're interested in vintage Warbirds, there is an incredible museum on I4, near Orlando, Florida, which has just about every aircraft you can salivate about: P51 Mustangs; Supermarine Spitfires; B17 Fortress'; Gee Bee Racers from the Thirties; Fokker Triplane from the 1914-18 conflict; and seemingly hundreds of others.

The gentleman who owns this incredible collection is Kermit Weeks and each year, he puts on a show called "Roar n'Soar" in November. You just might want to put this date in your diary.

As well as aircraft, Kermit's outfit also allows the lake on his property to be used for vintage boat racing at Roar n'Soar and this November yours truly was there with my Vintage Jones "F" class 1960 hydroplane. There was a very good entry of vintage hydroplanes, Jersey Skiffs and drag boats – fearsome devices! A good time was had by all, despite me finding that "L'eau Reves" old Chevy 265 wouldn't rev past 4,000 rpm!

The engine is currently out of the hydroplane and at an engine shop, waiting to go on the dyno to see what's the matter with it.... Shall keep everyone informed.

© John Starkey 2010

www.johnstarkeycars.com

(727) 384 1179 USA

Site Contents © John Starkey 2010